Cause of 'Tower Of Flame' Undetermined

Fire, of undetermined origin, early Monday morning razed the main plant of Litton Engineering Laboratories at 551 Eaton Ave., Redwood City, with a loss estimated by Joseph Gordon, plant manager, at nearly $250,000.

The firm, manufacturing electronics industry equipment and vacuum-tube products, played a prominent but secret part in the United States war effort, in production of electronics and radar items.

The flames, discovered at 1:45 a.m. by W. A. Stetler, 315 Lowell Ave., who is night guard at the plant, gutted a two-story frame building, 40 x 200 feet, which housed the major plant departments despite efforts of Redwood City, San Carlos and County Fire Departments.

The flames, fed by recurrent explosions of oxygen and acetylene cylinders used in welding and burning operations in the main plant building, towered at the height of the blaze to more than 150 feet above the ground.

Motorists on Bayshore Hwy., police reported, telephoned inquiries as to the source of the "tower of flame" in the foothills.

Two smaller pre-finishing plant structures, a vacuum-tube engineering building and another frame structure which formerly housed the main offices of the company, were also practically destroyed by the blaze.

Machinery, finished products, and a great portion of the company's engineering data and blueprints were destroyed in the fire, Gordon said.

"We're continuing in business," he declared. "Already we have placed orders for replacement machinery and lathes. We hope to be back in full production within a very few weeks."

Stetler, who notified firemen of the blaze, said he had left the guard office at the front of the plant grounds at 1:40 a. m., preparatory to making his hourly round of the buildings and grounds at 2 o'clock, when he saw first evidence of the flames.

"There was a faint dull glow showing inside the windows at the front of the main plant," Stetler said. "I ran a few steps closer, and then rushed back to the guard office to telephone for help. By the time I returned to the building, the place was ablaze."

Lack of water facilities, Dep. County Fire Warden Ernest L. Werder declared, and the head-start the flames had secured by the time equipment reached the scene in the foothills, made it impossible to extinguish the main plant blaze.

Hydrants, spotted around the plant area, maintained a good water pressure, Gordon said later this morning, but the intense heat burst the flow pipes and greatly impeded the firemen's efforts.

Three trucks from the county forest service department, two Redwood City trucks and one San Carlos truck responded to the alarm. The Redwood City equipment, Asst. Chief Joseph Lodi, merely stood by, because of the difficulty of fighting the flames. The plant itself is beyond the city's corporate limits.

Gordon, who said the losses were covered by insurance, pointed out the major disaster was in the loss of finished products and in the delay which now will result before production can be resumed. Precision tools and machinery, needed by the company, are still "like hen's teeth" in the market. Several firms, he said, offered use of their facilities and loan of equipment this morning, to aid the local firm.

At the height of the blaze, after plant water system pipes burst from the heat, Werder ordered the county trucks and fireman to abandon hoses and retire more than 100 yards, for fear the intense heat would endanger lives and ruin equipment.

San Carlos firemen, responding to a second alarm, aided in finally quelling the flames after hooking up to a hydrant 950 feet from the area and running lines to the burning buildings.

Despite the late hour, hundreds of neighbors and motorists found their way to the scene of the blaze. Many cars were mired on the shoulder of Eaton Ave. California Highway Patrolmen were forced to direct traffic and prevent onlookers from crowding so close they hampered firefighters.

The plant is located approximately a half-mile beyond the Redwood City limits. During the war, Litton Laboratories was awarded the Army-Navy pennant for excellence, with two stars for repeated production performance.

Exact loss, Gordon said, could not be determined until employes, working Monday morning in still-blazing wreckage of the main building, ascertained the full extent of damage to papers and other items stored in the plant safe.

No conclusion on the possible cause of the fire was offered either by firemen or by Gordon. The plant, which employs about 70 persons on day-shift, and more than 12 on night-shift, was unoccupied Sunday night. The gas-heating system, Gordon and the guard declared, had been turned off at the close of work Saturday.

Stetler said he had no suspicions of fire when he finished his 1 a. m. round of the plant buildings and grounds and that everything appeared "in apple pie order as usual."

Plan Building For Dial Phone Exchange Here

A $113,500 building permit for construction of a reinforced building to house dial telephone facilities was issued Wednesday by City Bldg. Insp. L. M. Duncan to the Haas Construction Co., for Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The building will be at 1227 El Camino Real.

The large permit boosted this year's total to $1,963,712.

Duncan predicted the total would pass the $2,000,000 mark within the next few days.

Seek Veterans' Representative

William Galloway, chairman of the Redwood City Veterans' Affairs Council, has announced that an appeal made last month for a fulltime veterans' employment representative in the United States Employment Service office here has gone unanswered.

Galloway appealed to Urban F. Stewart, veterans' employment representative for California, for a full time representative here because of the fact that Redwood City is an industrial area and will face the task of placing half again as many as the 2200 persons who left the area for duty with the armed services.

In view of the potential need, Galloway appealed for a trained staff in the employment office in the courthouse. He said his request has been ignored.

City Planners Receive Unofficial Approval Of R.C. Master Plan

Redwood City planning commissioners, meeting with city councilmen Wednesday, presented their recommendations for a master plan and received an unofficial OK until their report is formally presented to the council Dec. 3.

The master plan, which would be drawn up by a planning engineer, would set up goals attainable within the next 10 years, according to the proposal made.

Cost has been estimated to be $10,000, with approximately half proposed from a .5 per cent portion of the city's million dollar bond issue.

A plan for off-street parking, which would be a part of the master plan, was discussed by the commissioners and councilmen.

Methods of paying for city-acquired parking lots were questioned by Comsr. John Nordstrand, who was told by City Atty. Paul A. McCarthy the city can establish districts to finance parking areas.

Nordstrand referred to a $58,000 allotment in the bond issue.

"If you're going to look forward to a city of possibly 38,000 people, you'll have to have more parking space than we're talking about," McCarthy declared.

Comsr. Francis Britschgi cited grocery stores as an example of future growth which may change the present picture.

High rents may force the stores to move to new locations, thus making less need for parking space for grocery shoppers, he said.

Councilmen and commissioners were reminded by McCarthy that unless the city encourages "the heart of the city, you'll suffer through lower assessments. Eventually, you'll get a decadent area," he said.

Two Men Jump To Safety

SAN MATEO — Two men jumped to safety Tuesday morning seconds before a Southern Pacific northbound locomotive struck their truck at Third Ave., San Mateo, killing the driver who was frantically trying to back his vehicle from the tracks.

Dead is Harry Larsen, 52, job foreman for a San Francisco paint contractor.

The men who jumped from the truck as the engine bore down on them are Fred Brunton and Otis Purcell, 59, San Francisco painters.

The truck was hit on the left side. It swung completely around, crashed into the steel base of a safety gate, tore the base and gate loose and hurled them against a building at the corner of Third and Railroad Aves.

Police Insp. Thomas Connor said the manually operated safety gate did not begin to close until after Larsen, westbound, had driven onto the track. Brunton and Purcell told police Larsen had stopped the truck about 10 feet from the track, then started slowly across.

Apparently confused when he looked up and saw the engine a block away at Fourth Ave., Larsen stopped and attempted to put the truck in reverse and back off the tracks, Connor said.

R.C. Mother Charges Kidnaping

A Redwood City mother Tuesday charged her ex-husband, Sam Heron, 33, colored, with kidnaping their 7-year-old daughter in front of the Lytton Ave. School in Palo Alto Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Grace L. Wright of 106 Spruce St., Redwood City, told Palo Alto police that the girl was awarded to her custody by a court order earlier this month. The child had been living with her grandmother, Mrs. Lulu Boswell, 733 Ramona St., Palo Alto.

Palo Alto police went to Richmond Tuesday to seek Heron. The mother also charged that Heron took the girl when they were living in San Antonio, Tex., and brought her to California.

Will of Paula Watt Filed for Probate

Probate of the will of the late Paula Watt, Borel Ave., San Mateo, was asked in a petition filed in superior court here today by her husband, Rolla B. Watt, attorney. Asking letters testamentary, he alleged the estate is in excess of $10,000. He is named executor. The will bequeaths half the property to Watt, and half to Margaret Watt, an adopted daughter.

Injured, Asks $45,000 Balm

Asking $45,000 damages for a "mangled arm and shoulder," Vernon A. Kronquist Tuesday filed in superior court a damage action against Edward Tabor of Los Angeles, Edward Norton, owner of Belmont Airport, and 15 John Does.

Kronquist charges he was a paying passenger in Tabor's plane last June 13, on a flight from Los Angeles to Sacramento, when the plane landed at the Belmont field. Tabor, he charges, asked him to help in turning the plane for a takeoff, knowing Kronquist was ignorant of planes. Kronquist charges he was injured when he went in front of the plane and Tabor turned it.

BY JOE CABOOSE

Hope this bread strike soon ends. We're tired of eating cake. Got by pretty well till Thanksgiving. That evening we pulled the cold turkey out of the icebox for a bedtime snack . . . and found there was no bread in the house. Ever try to make a turkey sandwich out of pound cake? Don't! When the poor of Paris didn't have bread, Marie Antoinette said, "let 'em eat cake." Now we know why they cut off her head.

San Mateo County's shocking auto accident rate is something we should all view with alarm. Why is it so many ordinarily sane and cautious people go completely beserk when they get behind the wheel of an automobile? Underwriters are frantic. They're all losing money. Only people profiting by the situation are the undertakers. An insurance man told us his claims had jumped 40 per cent in the past 30 days.

Several reasons have been advanced for the abnormal accident rate. "Old cars falling apart," "smooth tires blowing out," etc., etc. Investigators for underwriting companies, however, say such mechanical failures are not the main reason. They conclude it is the inevitable "blow-off" after four long years of war and human repression." The lid is off and people are now having their fling." . . . .Yes, a fling of murder and maiming along the highways such as this country has never seen, with casualty lists rivaling those of the battlefront.

Whatever the reason, it's high time the curve on this highway slaughter chart began to turn down. And we have an idea a little honest and intensified policing would help a lot. We certainly could do with some of it within the limits of Redwood City. The way motorists burn up such through streets as Hopkins, Brewster, Jefferson, James and others, not to mention El Camino, is a public disgrace. And it's no answer from the police department to say there isn't manpower enough on the force to police these streets. Let's get the manpower! How about it Mr. City Manager? And you gentlemen of the Council?

Another good friend, esteemed citizen and fellow commuter has gone to his final rest. Lucien Reiss passed away early Wednesday morning at French Hospital after a week's illness. A director of the Redwood City Commuter's Club and one of its most ardent workers and supporters in every community effort, Lu's passing was not without a touch of irony. He was chairman of the club's "sick committee," yet scarcely anyone knew that he himself was fatally ill. His death came as a terrible shock to all.

We liked Lu Reiss, and we feel richer for having known him. He disguised an "old softie" complex under a rugged, almost gruff, exterior. No fair-weather friend was Lu. He was the kind of friend who would look you up if he even suspected you need anything. He had a heart of pure gold. We once wrote about "tolerance" in this column. Lu liked it and took the trouble to call us up and say so. He said: "It appealed to me because in my book 'tolerance' is the greatest of all virtues." We replied, "How about charity?" He said: "You can't be tolerant unless you are both charitable and kind." Lu should know because he was all three in one . . . and not infrequently he experienced the sharp barb of intolerance. May his soul rest in peace.

★ ★ ★

Pres. Clarence Brizee and Charles Malinowski, superintendent of French Hospital, represented the Commuters at the big organization meeting at City Hall yesterday to outline procedure for the construction of a suitable hospital for Redwood City and vicinity. This is the community's greatest immediate postwar need and we are fortunate in having a man of Mr. Malinowski's talents and experience interested in the project. His rating and prestige are evidenced by the fact that he is not only head of one of San Francisco's larger institutions, but is also president of the San Francisco Hospital Assn. He wants passionately to do something for Redwood City, his home.

What's on the Commuter Club agenda?

Nov. 26—House committee meeting at Jack Welch's home to arrange final details of club's Christmas party.

Nov. 29, Thursday—the "payoff" dinner at Grace & Pierre's tendered by the Commuters' softball team to the victorious Kiwanis Club team. It is always a privilege and a pleasure to break bread (if any) with the gentlemen of the Kiwanis Club.

Dec. 1, Saturday—Commuters' street sale of Victory Bonds; Paul Allen, chairman in charge. (Each commuter should purchase at least one of the new $200 Roosevelt memorial issue . . . in addition to his usual $100 item!)

Dec. 15, Saturday—The club's annual dinner dance and Christmas party—for Commuters and their ladies, at Grace & Pierre's; cocktails at 7; dinner and dancing till 12 midnight.

★ ★ ★

A word of appreciation to Vice Pres. W. J. McKeegan (Locomotive Bill) for his fine work and untiring efforts in maintaining this column during the period Caboose was in the roundhouse buried under an avalanche of government directives. Bill wrote a news-worthy and entertaining column, and introduced a number of new features such as his interesting serial on "the early days of Peninsula commuting." We know Bill's column was good because readers frequently complimented us thinking we were still writing it. Maybe now, that the truth is known, they will start throwing rocks at Caboose. In any case, many thanks, Bill! And we hope you will be back from time to time to give a shot of life, as guest conductor, to this old column.

Russell M. Gibbons Gets Discharge

In the service since the day after the Pearl Harbor bombing, 1st Lt. Russell M. Gibbons of Redwood City received his discharge from McClellan Field and returned home Monday.

His wife, Jernice, and 3-month-old son, Clifford, are residing temporarily with her parents, Councilman and Mrs. Floyd D. Granger of 827 Brewster Ave. Gibbons served as an instructor pilot and flight commander of B-26s and B-24s during his air force career. He was last stationed at March Field.

A Fox West Coast theater employe for six years before entering the service, he was assistant manager of the Sequoia Theater before being promoted to manager of the Redwood Theater. Gibbons is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Gibbons of Los Angeles.

The pilot graduated from Los Angeles High School and became head usher of a theater there after graduation. Six months later, he was promoted to assistant manager and served as assistant manager of three other Los Angeles theaters before coming to Redwood City.

Gibbons received his wings and commission at the Stockton air base on Jan. 4, 1943. His present plans are indefinite.

Burlingame Man, Ex-Prisoner of Japs, Urges U.S. Strength

By WILLIAM COTHRAN

Reflecting on the miseries he suffered because of a lack of minimum food, clothing and shelter while he was a prisoner of the Japanese, Maj. F. Langwith Berry of Burlingame says, "This is the treatment the American people could expect from an invading enemy."

"For that reason," Major Berry now a patient at Dibble General Hospital, continues, "we should strengthen, rather than dismantle, our present system of defense. Let us keep our Pacific outposts, including the Philippines."

Taken prisoner on Bataan, the field artillery officer twice escaped when prisoner of war ships on which he was one of 1600 passengers en route to Japan were attacked, from sea and air, by United states forces. One ship was sunk but the second eventually reached its destination.

After surviving the shipwreck, Major Berry said, the men who boarded a second ship were barefoot and lacking adequate clothing. With snow and ice on deck, and even penetrating the holds where the prisoners were quartered, the men were forced to huddle together in small groups to keep warm.

Rations during the voyage, the major added, were scarcely enough to sustain life. Prisoners were alloted eight spoons of water and one cup of cooked rice each day, although there were large stores of food and water aboard.

Later the ship was bombed, killing 250 and wounding 300 in the forward hold, and killing and injuring a small number in the after hold.

The Japanese, Major Berry said, afforded cursory aid to those in the aft hold, but refused any form of medical attention to those in the forward hold. There was even a great delay in removing the bodies of those who had been killed in the raid.

"When we finally arrived at Moji," the Burlingame man added, "400 out of the original 1600 were alive. Over 100 of our group died after arrival, so there are now only 200 and some odd left out of the original detail of 1600."

Major Berry, Stanford '37, said that he knew of a half-dozen other Stanford graduates who were also members of the prison ship detail. James Curran of Redwood City is now back home after almost identical experiences. Capt. William Brunton, Maj. Charles Sneed, Mike Milligan, Fred Rotherham and Jack Loupe lost their lives on that "cruise of death."

He also tells of receivoing supplies from guerrillas while at Davao Penal Colony in the Philippines. When the Americans were at work in the rice fields they occasionally found medicines, cigarets, letters and other items which had been smuggled into the islands by submarine. In their compound at night, the prisoners were able to see fires burning in the guerrilla camps in the nearby hills.

After being transferred to Dibble upon his arrival in this country, Major Berry became acquainted with a Filipino major in the U. S. Army. In the course of ensuing conversations, the two men discovered that they had almost met once before.

Major Berry had been in charge of the American prisoners who found supplies in the rice fields, while the Filipino major had been in command of the guerrilla troops who had left the materials within sight of the Jap garrison during the night.

He learned that the Japanese city near a prison camp in which he was being held originally had been selected as the target for the second atomic bomb. A solid overcast in the area, however, caused Nagasaki, an alternate target to become the scene of destruction.

Following the Japanese surrender, inmates of the camp learned of their good fortune when a B-29 bomber flew over the camp dropping supplies. Crew members included a note congratulating the prisoners on their narrow escape.

Athertonites Argue Lot Sizes

ATHERTON—A provision requiring three acres for the keeping of horses brought forth a lively discussion at a public hearing on a proposed new zoning ordinance for the city of Atherton at the Atherton Town Hall Tuesday night.

Council members explained to the gathering that the three-acre requirement had been included only after local citizens indicated that such was their desire at planning commission hearings on the ordinance.

After a number of persons had risen to protest the three-acre requirement last night, however, a count of the more than 60 people in attendance favored reducing the requirement for horses to two acres or less.

Terminating a lively 30-minute discussion, the council indicated that the controversy would be referred back to the planning commission.

A second provision, governing accessory structures, will also be referred back to the planning commission as a result of objections arising last night. Consideration will be given to spreading out from the rear of lot building areas to allow for guest houses, which had not been allowed for in the new ordinance.

Another suggestion entailed a fixed 37½-foot side yard area for all lots created in the future, with a sliding scale of side yard areas set up for existing lots. The ordinance now in force dictates a 50-foot side yard area for all city lots, while the proposed measure sets up a sliding scale for all lots.

A final objection returned to the provision governing animals and fowls. One property owner suggested that the limit for chickens be set at 20 for each lot. The proposed ordinance sets the limit at 20 fowl for lots of less than acre and 100 fowl per acre in lots of an acre or more.

Council members announced that they will meet with the planning commission when it convenes to consider last night's proposals and objections. Further public hearings probably will follow. No definite dates, however, were set.

Frank Hull Wins Airways Promotion

Frank M. Hull of San Carlos has been appointed manager of Pan-American World Airway at Mills Field, the Pacific Division reported Tuesday.

Capt. H. C. Kristofferson, until recently a colonel in the U. S. Army as assistant chief of staff, Army Transport Command headquarters, Washington, D. C., has been named operations manager of the air lines. He will succeed Capt. O. J. Studeman, who has been transferred to a similar position in Pan-American's Latin-American Division with headquarters in Miami.

Other appointments made at the resumption of commercial operations in the Pacific include: R. L. Barnes of 807 Nevada St., San Mateo, administrative assistant to the division manager; S. D. Brother, 1404 Balboa Ave., Burlingame, assistant division traffic manager.

Hull, former section maintenance superintendent at Honolulu, began his association with the airways in 1937 as a second class mechanic. He lives at 154 Garnet St.

Washington School Addition To Get Under Way Soon

Construction of a four-classroom addition to the Washington School on Woodside Rd. will get under way in the immediate future following the opening of bids at Tuesday night's special Redwood City Elementary School District Trustees meeting, Supt. Andrew Spinas reported Wednesday.

The one-story concrete structure will be constructed by C. F. Parker, general contractor, of 1644 Monterey Blvd., San Francisco, whose low bid was $63,190.

Spinas said Architect Arthur Janssen had estimated cost of the addition at $53,492.

Other bidders were Contractor Peter Sorenson of Redwood City, $65,719; DeLuca & Sons of San Francisco, $68,800; and Peter Sortorio of San Francisco, $71,675.

The building will be erected apart from the main school structure facing Murray Court on the west side of the property. It will house three primary grades and a kindergarten plus washroom facilities and a teachers' room, Spinas said.

Chmn. John W. Poole of the board of trustees presided at last night's meeting.

Spinas also disclosed that plans are under way for a three-room addition to the Lincoln School. Other expansion projects are in the process stage, he said.

Building Here Totals $1,840,327

Redwood City building Saturday totaled $1,840,327, compared to a comparable figure of $191,924 for 1944, City Bldg. Insp. L. M. Duncan announced.

Largest of the 42 permits issued so far this month were for $23,000 for remodeling at Feldman's Tire Shop, 2089 Broadway; $17,000 for a store building at 27 James Ave. to be built by M. R. Hinds; and $20,000 for two duplexes in the 200 block on Howland St., issued to R. R. Madden.

Duncan, who has predicted building would pass the two-million mark before the end of the year, said the rains have slowed construction somewhat, and that permits for the remaining $160,000 necessary to reach the goal would move slowly during the inclement weather.

Sequoia Alumni Make Plans For 50th Anniversary Dinner

Members of the Sequoia High School Alumni Assn. board Tuesday continued plans for the annual alumni dinner to be held in the Sequoia cafeteria Saturday, Dec. 15, at 6:30 o'clock.

The dinner will have a special significance this year, as this is the school's 50th anniversary. Many of Sequoia's returned service men and "old timers" are expected to be present.

Plans call for graduates of various periods of the school's history to provide entertainment.

Tickets may be secured from Donald L. Bogie, advisor, or any member of the board of directors: Florence Tiedeman, Rosalie Carrington, Otto Tallent, Alvina Mariani, Ellen Curtis, Wesley Haydock, Wanda Sharp, Clifton Woodhams and Robert Poole.

Appraisal of the estate of the late James A. Burk of 426 Highland Ave., San Mateo, filed in superior court here, shows the estate is valued at $24,678.95, and consists mainly of real property and bank accounts, Appraiser James A. Lee reported.

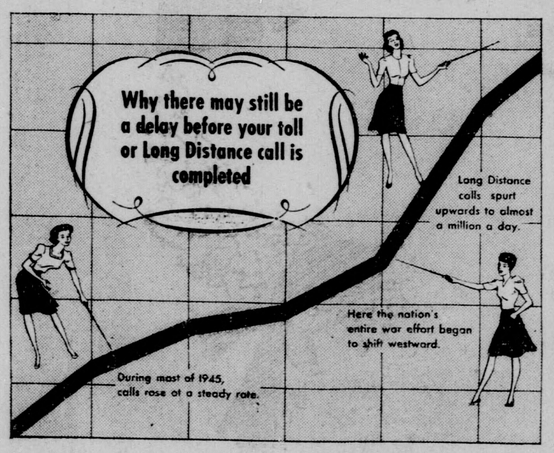
Long Distance calls reach all-time high on the Pacific Coast



Why there may still be a delay before your toll or Long Distance call is completed
Long Distance calls spurt upwards to almost a million a day.
Here the nation's entire war effort began to shift westward.
During most of 1945, calls rose at a steady rate.

The graph above gives a quick picture of the unprecedented increase in Long Distance calls that came in the last few months before the end of the war and has continued unabated ever since.

It also tells you why...even though we are making swift progress in bringing service back to normal ...your Long Distance call may sometimes be delayed, or the operator may ask you to limit it to five minutes.

You can be certain we are doing everything possible to serve you courteously, quickly and well and to speed the day when we can again handle promptly any Long Distance call you want to make... anywhere.

Flames Destroy Litton Laboratories: $250,000 Loss

This photo shows the gutted main plant building of Litton Engineering Laboratories at 551 Eaton Ave., Monday morning after fire of undetermined origin destroyed equipment and products of the electronics industry manufacturing company valued at $250,000. This blaze, which started about 1:45 o'clock this morning, sent a "tower of flames" into the sky to awe motorists as far away as Bayshore Hwy. Redwood City, San Carlos and San Mateo County fire departments answered the two-alarm blaze which for a time threatened neighboring residences. (Tribune photo by Reg McGovern.)

Police Warning To R.C. Stores

Police Chief C. L. Collins has warned merchants that holiday season "rush" gives check thieves and forgers their easiest "pickings."

"Merchants should be more careful in accepting either government or commercial checks these days," Collins said. "We are co-operating with the U. S. Secret Service in their campaign to jot down some notation on the check as to what was used for identification. This fixes responsibility and serves to remind one of the transaction. Merchants should ask themselves, "If this check is returned as a forgery will I know where I can locate the forger and recover my money?" "

One Motorist Died, 31 Others Injured Here

This photo shows the Greyhound bus which overturned on Bayshore Hwy. at Brisbane Saturday evening after colliding with a small car in an accident which resulted in one death and injuries to 31 persons. The bus caromed across the highway and down the 30-foot embankment to crash on its side. The car, in which the driver was killed, skidded onto the highway guard rail and burst into flames. Thirty of the bus passengers, and the car's passenger, were injured. The bus driver told police the crash resulted when the car's driver swerved from the northbound lane into the southbound inner lane. —Photo by Tribune

Lovoi Says Youths Misunderstand

Misinterpretation of the "curfew law" embodied in Redwood City's ordinance appears responsible for the repeated violation of the local regulation on weekends, Dep. County Probation Officer Anthony Lovoi declared Saturday after warning six juveniles arrested Friday night about midnight by local police.

"Somehow," Lovoi said, "both parents and the youngsters who are not 18 years old, believe that the curfew ordinance does not require all children unescorted by their parents to be at home by 10 p. m. on Friday, Saturday or Sunday nights. The law reads that 10 o'clock is the 'deadline' every night. The county's ordinance reads the same."

Some cities, such as Menlo Park, have an 11 p. m. deadline, Lovoi said, but the countywide ordinance and the one affecting Redwood City makes no time-extension for weekends.

Lovoi said the six youngsters arrested on Broadway by police Friday night, after a conference with him and their parents were warned that any further violation would result in both parents and the juveniles being summoned to appear in juvenile court.

While there has been no great increase in after-curfew loitering on downtown streets, Lovoi said, his office is certain that misinterpretation of the ordinance rather than wilful violation, has caused the recent cases brought to the probation officer's attention.

Visiting from the San Mateo Post were Thomas G. Rodgers, commander, and George V. Givens, quartermaster.

Police Identify S.M. Fatality

SAN MATEO—The woman pedestrian fatally injured Thursday night in San Mateo when she was struck by a car at 29th Ave. and El Camino Real, is identified as Mrs. Grace Thomas, 57, of Walla Walla, Wash., who had been living temporarily at Ward's Auto Court, 2845 Flores St., San Mateo.

She was identified Sunday morning by her husband, Elbert Thomas, who is stabling horses in Pleasanton for the Bay Meadows races. Thomas, also of Walla Walla, told police he lives part of the time in Pleasanton.

Fire Guts Taxi In Driveway Here

A taxi belonging to the Yellow Cab Co. was Sunday night gutted by a fire which was attributed to a cigaret, Redwood City firemen said Monday.

The automobile, parked in a driveway on Jeter St. near Katherine Ave., was reported by a small girl who, nearly a block away from the scene, telephoned firemen and told of seeing smoke and flames.

Firemen, who arrived at the fire shortly after 9:26 p.m., said the fire short-circuited the horn, causing it to attract numerous residents.

Dist. Court of Appeals Reverses Schottky's Decision on Reardon

Dismissal of James C. Reardon as police chief at Daly City was upheld Tuesday by a the State District Court of Appeals, in its first reversal of a judgment of Andrew R. Schottky, Mariposa County superior judge.

Judge Schottky, sitting in San Mateo County court last February, upheld Reardon's claim he had been dismissed illegally by the Daly City council's action, and awarded him $2250 in back pay and ordered the city to reinstate him as police chief.

The appellate court's decision Tuesday reversed Judge Schottky's decision on the legal grounds Reardon, by waiving his right to a second hearing before a board of review at Daly City following his original ouster June 26, 1944, "sacrificed his legal right to a superior court hearing on a writ of mandate petition."

Reardon, ousted on misconduct charges, filed for the writ of mandate in August, 1944, on grounds he was dismissed for political reasons and that the provisions of the city's civil service ordinance were not followed by the action ordering his dismissal.

Judge Schottky's original decision, last February, held Reardon had been dismissed illegally since no board of review was in existence at the time the ouster was ordered by the city officials, in a vote which found three councilmen favoring his ouster and two opposed. F. E. Hoffman, representing the city, appealed the local decision.

The appellate court, in a decision written by Judge Louis H. Ward, and concurred in at San Francisco yesterday afternoon by Presiding Justice Raymond E. Peters and Frank M. Ogden, appellate court justice pro tem, went at great length into the legality of the situation, in a nine-page decision.

"In addition Reardon's failure to follow provisions of the controlling ordinance (affecting his position as police chief) . . . prohibits the affirmance of the superior court judgment restoring the petitioner to office. . . ." the decision read in part. "Reardon did not exhaust the administrative remedies in that he waived his right to a hearing before either the city council or a board of review of the City of Daly City. Through this failure to exhaust the administrative remedies, he sacrificed his right to a superior court hearing on a writ of mandate," the decision held.

Appellate court attaches pointed out Reardon can appeal the decision within 15 days.

Local judicial circles speculated whether the legal fight might not continue to the supreme court of the state, since Judge Schottky, considered an expert on municipal law, has never before been reversed by the appellate courts on similar cases involving city legislation-litigation.

Sensational Divorce Case On Here

In a bitterly-contested divorce hearing begun Tuesday morning in superior court before Judge Aylett R. Cotton, charges and counter-charges of extravagance, jealousy and marital infidelities were hurled by counsel for Walter B. Brandt, 61, wealthy Burlingame insurance corporation executive, and his estranged wife, Mrs. Lilyan H. Brandt, 35.

Brandt, whose company acts as West Coast representative for Lloyds of London and other insurance firms, sued for divorce in the original suit filed in September, 1944, charging extreme cruelty.

In a cross-complaint, filed dramatically late Monday afternoon on the eve of today's hearing, Mrs. Brandt charges her husband with "associating with Linda Stevens" of Hollywood, and alleges that Brandt and the Stevens woman were found in an intimate situation in his San Francisco hotel room last Oct. 19. She asks $2500 monthly alimony and a divorce on grounds of infidelity.

Brandt, who was expected to continue on the stand at least all Tuesday, opened the hearing Monday with testimony to show he earned $18,000 annually in salary, and repeatedly quarreled with his wife because she persisted in living in a "style it was impossible for us to continue." Brandt alleged she spent from $30,000 to $36,000 a year, and repeatedly incurred charge accounts for large sums after she would promise to curtail expenses.

Brandt also hinted that further testimony might disclose intimacies of Mrs. Brandt with other men, despite her protests. He mentioned a letter he said he had found in her dresser drawer, addressed to a "Mrs. L. Bryant" at a private post-office box in Burlingame, which he claimed Mrs. Brandt said had been written to her, "by a lovesick soldier."

Brandt also testified he had asked his wife to join him by plane at Los Angeles on a business trip, that she telephoned him she was ill in bed under a doctor's care, but that she entertained a "weekend party" in the couple's home at 1844 Floribunda Ave., Burlingame. He alleged, from the stand, that Mrs. Brandt at one particular party "was most flirtatious with one man—I hope I don't have to mention names; but I can if I must," after his own repeated pleas that she refrain from such conduct.

Attorneys for Mrs. Brandt said they would put her on the witness stand probably tomorrow. J. W. Ehrlich, counsel for the wife, secured from Brandt testimony today to the effect he gave his wife a $25 weekly allowance, sometimes reducing it to $15, and spent only $10 weekly himself. Other expenses, he testified, were paid by the firm, mainly for "business entertainment."

Associated with Ehrlich is Roy Sharff, as counsel for Mrs. Brandt. E. H. Cosgriff is attorney for Brandt.

Brandt also testified that Mrs. Brandt continually argued with him, and asked for diamonds, furs and jewelry, "such as her friend had," and once attempted to throw a stool at him. Another time, during an argument, he testified, she struck him with a large bottle of ink.

Another time, Brandt said, he begged his wife to run no more bills up one particular month because of income tax payments pending, and that she promised to economize. Five hours later, he said, she told him she had just bought a chair and davenport for $250. When he asked why she disregarded her promise, she told him, he testified, "She said her intuition told her always to do just the opposite of what I suggested."

Mrs. Brandt is his third wife. The couple married in Nevada in April, 1936. A temporary allowance of $400 monthly had been awarded her since filing of the original suit.

S.F. Supervisors Approve Bonds

San Francisco supervisors Monday adopted a resolution to provide issuance of $5,000,000 of airport bonds to get improvements at Mills Field underway after Jan. 1.

The bonds are part of the $200,000,000 bond issue recently approved by San Francisco voters.

The supervisors also referred to committee a resolution requesting the War Department to approve plans for construction of a second bay bridge from Hunter's Point to Alameda County.

Alleged Stabber Held To Answer

Refused a reduction in bail, Paul Axtell, 24, San Francisco ex-sailor, Wednesday was held to answer to superior court on charges of attempting to murder his wife in San Mateo, Nov. 2.

San Mateo Municipal Judge Francis W. Mullen, in refusing to lower bail of $10,000 cash or $20,000 bond, told defense attorney Louis Dematteis:

"I am not at all sure we would not have a murder case if he reduced, and I am not at all sure he would be present for trial."

Mrs. Virginia Axtell, estranged wife of the defendant, testified the only conversation preceding the alleged attack was a request by Axtell for privilege to return to San Francisco with her, and her acceptance.

She said her husband struck her twice on the right side of the face, then turned and ran. Then. she said, she found she was bleeding and had been stabbed in the throat.

George Bruce, also of San Francisco, testified that earlier in the evening, Axtell had shown him a knife and said he was going to use it on his wife.

Firemen Put Out Train Box Car Blaze at Bridge

County Forest Service fire equipment Monday night extinguished a fire in a box-car of a Southern Pacific freight train at Dumbarton crossing at 8:30 o'clock, Dep. Fire Warden Ernest L. Werder reported Tuesday. The car, afire from an undetermined cause, was cut out from the westbound train at Middlefield Rd. crossing, Werder said, and flames extinguished without serious damage resulting to either car or its contents. The car was loaded with empty coffee jars and cases.

Ration Board Is Still Busy

The Redwood City War Price and Rationing Board is turning its attention to price control with the termination of the bulk of the rationing program.

Mrs. J. E. Spence, secretary of the board, appealed to buyers to watch ceiling prices carefully in a co-operative movement to halt tendencies toward inflation.

She also warned individuals to retain possession of Ration Book 4, which contains the sugar stamps. Sugar is still on the ration list.

Coast Guardsman Clarke Returns to Pacific

Seaman 1/c William T. Clarke, coast guard signalman, has returned to the Pacific Theater after spending a brief leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Clarke of 244 Laguna Ave.

His ship, the USS Cavalier, recently arrived in San Francisco with 1500 service men from Manila and is returning to that city for another group of men who are expected home by Christmas. Clarke graduated from Sequoia High School in 1944.

How to cook steaks, chops and roasts

Certain basic rules should be followed in the cooking of steaks, chops and roasts to arrive at full flavor and tenderness. The broiling and roasting times listed below will be a quick and easy reference pasted in your scrap book of recipes.

BROILING—DIRECT HEAT

Steaks and chops should be 1-inch thick or thicker for broiling. Place meat 2 to 3 inches from heat. Brown one side of meat then turn, by inserting fork into fat, and brown the other side. About half of broiling time is required for each side, reducing heat to complete cooking after turning and browning. Season meat after browning or just before serving.

BROILING STEAKS AND CHOPS

Steak 1½ inches thick:
15 minutes—rare
20 minutes—medium
25 minutes—well-done
Lamb chops 1 inch thick:
12 - 20 minutes
Lamb chops 2 inches thick:
20 - 30 minutes

Pan-Broiling

Slightly grease heavy frying pan and heat to sizzling-hot. Brown meat well, about 1 minute, on both sides then reduce temperature. Turn meat at intervals and continue cooking until done. Pour off fat, as it accumulates. Do not cover pan. Do not add water.

ROASTING—DRY HEAT

A meat thermometer is an accurate guide for roasting tender cuts of meat. Roasts should be served as quickly as possible after removing from the oven for the desired degree of doneness, otherwise, since the cooking process continues, the meat may be overdone.

Place roast on a rack or trivet fat side up in a pan 2 inches deep or less, uncovered. (Place rib roast on ribs, fat side up, without rack.) Season meat if desired—flouring not necessary. Do not baste or turn meat.

ROASTING TIMES AND TEMPERATURES

300° F. to 350° F. constant temperature. (Increase roasting time approximately 10 minutes per pound for rolled or boned roasts.)

Beef:
22 to 25 minutes per lb.—rare
28 minutes per lb.—medium
30 to 32 minutes per lb.—well-done
Lamb:
30 to 35 minutes per lb.—medium
35 to 40 minutes per lb.—well-done
Pork:
40 to 45 minutes per lb.—well-done
Veal:
40 to 45 minutes per lb.—well-done

M.P. City Council OKs Mayor's Plan

MENLO PARK—In a meeting at the Menlo Park City Hall Tuesday night, the city council adopted as its objective Mayor Frank Burgess' proposed 14-point program for civic improvement, and announced progress on two of the propositions.

It was revealed that plans and specifications for a recreation building in Recreation Park which are being prepared by Arthur Janssen will be submitted at the next council meeting.

Street Comsr. Robert Rhodes reported that the city had acquired its first consignment of equipment for the street department. Three pieces have been purchased, a 12-ton roller, a motor grader, and a spreader box.

The council also accepted three recommendations from the planning commission. The first would prohibit commercial greenhouses in residential zones. A public hearing was set for 8 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 11.

In a second action, the council directed the planning commission to hold a public hearing Dec. 7 relative to proposed rezoning of Lots 202-205 in the Menlo Park Villa Tract. Acting on the third suggestion, the council directed city engineer to include alleys in the second, third, fourth, fifth lots off Santa Cruz Ave.

'Cow Palace' Exposition Planned

A second Grand National Livestock Exposition will be held in November, 1946, in San Francisco's "Cow Palace," it was disclosed Tuesday by the No. 1-A District Agricultural Association.

Carl L. Garrison of Stockton, newly-named secretary of the district association by Nion R. Tucker, San Francisco, president, said the $2,500,000 pavilion would be renovated as soon as the army moves out. The army has used the vast building as a motor transport repair center.

First national livestock exposition was held in the structure three weeks before Pearl Harbor, in 1941, and attracted 158 exhibitors who competed for about $48,000 in premiums.

Garrison, who was assistant farm advisor of San Joaquin County from 1935 to 1941, will take over his new duties about Dec. 1. He was recently released from the army air forces, where he held the rank of lieutenant colonel.
